

TX Capital (“the Fund”) is a Hong Kong-based China long/short equity fund focusing on value investing. The Fund has achieved superior returns since the Fund was launched in October 2014. With increasing assets size, the Fund is looking to recruit new research analyst as part of its business expansion plan. We are looking for top performer who is eager to learn and has strong interests in fundamental investing.

Job responsibilities:

- Conduct fundamental research on HK/China companies
- Maintain financial models and analyze company financial statements
- Monitor key economic development, industry trends, and company news
- Attend company management meetings and industry conferences
- Interpret complicated financial information/data

Skills and Requirements

Field of study: Accounting & Finance, Business Administration

Location: Hong Kong or China

Required Level of Work Experience: 5 years and above

Requirements:

- Strong interest and passion in value and fundamental investing
- Self-driven, highly motivated, strong commitment to task completion
- Ability to work effectively under pressure
- Attention to details
- Excellent quantitative/excel skills and accounting/finance knowledge
- Interest in current affairs
- Analytical and problem-solving skills
- Strong teamwork and communication skills
- Aspire to be top performer, eager to learn and strong work ethics
- Fluency in English and Chinese
- Candidates with 8 years or above relevant experiences will be considered for senior analyst positions
- Experience in covering TMT/ Consumer/ Cyclical sectors preferred

Interested candidates please send your full resume and expected compensation to alicecheung@txcapital.com.hk. Personal data will be used for recruitment purpose only.

Only shortlisted candidates will be notified.